National Shipping Strike Voted June 15

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, May 9—A paralyzing tieup of the nation's coastal and Great Lakes ports June 15 was threatened today by joint action of seven maritime unions.

The unions yesterday voted to carry out this country's first national shipping strike unless agreement is reached with employers by that date.

Higher wages and better working conditions were the issues which moved union delegates, in convention here, to approve the 12:01 a. m., June 15 deadline. The maritime unions represent 161,000 workers. They have been demanding up to 30 per cent wage increases.

WALL STREET TRADE HITS MIXED TREND

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 9—Pivotal stocks continued to suffer from chilling drafts in today's market although, as in previous sessions, assorted special issues displayed healthy rising inclinations.

While hopes for settlement of the coal strike persisted, Wall Streeters believed these were based more on wishful thinking than on facts and numerous customers, consequently, resumed selling operations. Isolated dividends, earnings and splitup possibilities still provided bidding inspiration for individual favorites.

Dealings slowed after a fairly active opening and irregularly lower trends prevailed near the fourth hour.

Wainwright's Jailor Is Brought to Trial

MUKDEN, May 9—Col. Genji Matsuda, commander of the infamous Hoten prison camp where Gen. Jonathan Wainwright and 1,500 other American war prisoners were held, today was taken to Shanghai to stand trial as a war criminal.

He is charged with responsibility for the deaths of some 200 Americans, condoning cruelty by his staff and forcing prisoners to work in war industries without providing air raid shelters for them.

He and his staff were captured by an American ground rescue team Sept. 19, 1945.

The prisoners at the Hoten camp, near here, were survivors of the Philippines invasion. Many had gone through the Bataan death march.

WELCOME ADDITION

By The United Press

LOS ANGELES — A 99-year-old veteran has added his name to the comparative handful still in the ranks of the Grand Army of the Republic.

He is William Allan Magee, who served as a private with Co. M, 12th Ohio Cavalry, during the Civil War, and later fought with the United States regulars in Indian campaigns.

SCIENTISTS' CHOICE. Science is usually associated with chemistry and such things, but there's another side to it, as witness this picture. Mary Belcher of Birmingham, Ala., shows why she was selected by Gulf Park college, Miss., and New York Museum of Science and Industry as the ideal American girl.

Chinese Communists Reported Attacking

By The Associated Press

PEIPING, May 9 — Chinese newspaper dispatches today reported the communists were attacking government forces strongly at Weihsien in Shantung province, and two towns in Hopeh province.

The dispatches also said the communists had captured Fenchiakow in Hopeh province yesterday, and had occupied and looted the Pingyao railroad station Tuesday but later withdrew.

(The Associated Press listening post in San Francisco recorded a broadcast from Chinese communist headquarters at Yenan asserting that 33 Chinese government armies with 99 divisions have been moved into striking positions or already are striking at communist-held areas.

(Yenan charged that eight government armies—exceeding the five stipulated in the January truce agreement—have moved into Manchuria.)

Broken Morale of Germany Is A Price Tag of Defeat

NO MOVIE LINE—These Germans are waiting for necessities.

By GODFREY ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

FRANKFURT-ON MAIN Germany, May 9—here is the face of Germany today—a picture of want and destruction and broken morale

Boys fight like animals for cigaret stubs and for lumps of coal dropped from trucks.

Long queues wait at the post office to buy stamps—only five to a customer—and at newsstands for the only newspaper in Frankfurt, published twice a week

All along the roads pretty frauleins hitchhikers beg lifts soldiers discourage them by painting "No darling just under the windshield of their jeep Many charcoal gas cars are stalled at the roadside while driver and passengers chop wood

Slight activity is seen in the fields Before the plow walks a horse with ribs showing through loose skin behind it a boy of 12 or a white haired woman whose sons have not come home—and may never come

No Desire to Build

Years rains have not washed away names of the dead roughly scratched on bricks sometimes with a dusty wreath of evergreens nearby

A bride in white steps from a bomb damaged church amid flattened ruins to set up housekeeping perhaps in a cellar No one seems to be building anything or even trying Frankfurts main streets have been cleared for traffic But most of the dust and broken bricks the twisted iron and powdered rubble have just been cast up in mounds on the sidewalks

A business man told The Associated Press thousands are unemployed in the commercial field

Schine Theaters Ask Okay on 3-Way Split

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 9—The Schine Chain Theaters, Inc., defendant in a government anti-trust suit, yesterday proposed to Federal Judge John Knight a "realignment" of its five-state theater chain into three corporations.

The proposal suggested that, instead of divesting itself of about 80 of its 160 theaters as planned by the government, the firm set up one corporation to operate all its theaters in New York state another to operate all those in Ohio and a third to take over the chains theaters in Maryand, Delaware and Kentucky

Assistant U S. Attorney R Norman Kirshgraber told the court he had received an outline of the plan by telephone and indicated he would oppose it as "not materially altering the present situation."

Judge Knight adjourned the proceedings until May 28.

5 Sailors Held In Test Ship Sabotage

By The Associated Press

PEARL HARBOR May 8 — Court-martial specifications were prepared today against five U S Navy crewmen accused of sabotaging the Japanese cruiser Sakawa enroute to Bikini, and thereby endangering lives of their shipmates.

Cmdr L W McConnaughay director of discipline for the 14th naval district here announced the preparation of charges but said he was not yet ready to report their exact nature The five men were held meanwhile as prisoners-at-large

Lt David Merrill chief engineer aboard the Sakawa as she made her hazardous 40-day cruise to become an atomic bomb target, said sabotage occurred on April 5, 6 and 7 at Eniwetok

Crewmen, he said knocked out the ships fuel system, smashed instruments and valves, and cut high pressure steam lines, so that if anyone had walked in front of that leak it could have cut them in two

McConnaughay said the accused men had hoped to be relieved of duty aboard the filthy warship The five he named included Seaman 2/c William N Lambright, Jr, R.F.D 2 East Palestine, O

769 APPROVED FOR OHIO JOBS

Tests May Keep State from Losing Federal Funds; Weeding Out Due.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 9—Ohio was a step closer today to averting a threat of withdrawal of federal funds from the welfare department and bureau of unemployment compensation with a civil service commission action expected to eliminate so-called provisional appointees as typists and stenographers in the two agencies by June 1.

Carl W. Smith, civil service chairman, announced that 769 persons, mainly women, passed the March 30 examinations for such jobs in the BUC and the welfare department's division of aid for the aged and social administration, together with county welfare offices.

Passing the examinations made them eligible for about 375 jobs now filled provisionally. Smith said there was no record of how many provisional appointees took the examinations, but that he assumed most took them to keep their jobs.

Those who passed the examinations will be certified in present jobs as soon as the two agencies work out details, while those who did not take them or failed them will be replaced as rapidly as possible from the eligible list. Smith predicted this would be done by June 1.

The state hired hundreds of persons without civil service examinations during the war, with officials asserting that the manpower shortage then forced them to lower standards below civil service requirements in order to fill jobs at all.

Last fall the federal social security board told Ohio to place all employes in agencies receiving federal support under civil service or lose the federal funds, and the commission set up the first examinations for March 30.

Louis Romeo of Cleveland headed the eligible list for Grade One stenographers, and Ardeth Kuesthardt of Chillicothe topped the Grade Two list.

BIG JOB AT 42 — William Julius Hobbs, 42, has been named by the Coca Cola Co. as its president in a reorganization of that company's leadership. A native of Wilmington, N. C., Hobbs received his law degree at National university in Washington, and became counsel for RFC. He was named a Coca Cola executive in 1942.

THOMAS AMONG 5 TOP LEGISLATORS BEATEN

Allen Co. Man Who Sought Speakership Also Loses.

Earl E. Thomas of 168 Spencer street was one of at least five prominent Republican members of the state legislature defeated in Tuesday's primary election, The Associated Press reported in a dispatch from Columbus today.

Mr. Thomas, who was a candidate for his sixth term in the house of representatives, was defeated by Kenneth A. Robinson, World War II veteran and former Marion city solicitor. He is chairman of the important house taxation committee.

Rev. L. S. Myers of Allen county, serving his sixth consecutive term in the house, and chairman of the house labor committee, lost to Floyd B. Griffin, former county auditor. Myers sought the house speakership on two occasions and was a member of a special commission created by the legislature to study various pension systems and recommend measures to make them financially sound.

Craig D. Slagle of Gallia county, chairman of the postwar program comission and of the house military affairs committee, also failed of renomination. He was serving a third term.

J. A. Gordon of Harrison county, now in his second term and a member of the strip mining commission, also was defeated as was W. S. Paxson of Fayette county, who lost to Virgil Terrill, a farm manager.

Harry E. Driscoll of Clark county was another Republican reported to have been defeated.

Ohio Fugitives Get Stiff Prison Terms

By The Associated Press

WARREN, O., May 9—Sentences totalling a minimum of 58 years and a maximum of 135 years today faced three Trumbull county jail escapees who were recaptured while attempting to rob a gasoline filling station at Rahway, N. J.

Common Pleas Judge Lynn B. Griffith yesterday named these sentences for the recaptured prisoners, who pleaded guilty to prosecution charges:

Alex Losiewicz, 19, of Youngstown, O., 30 to 75 years in Ohio penitentiary on three counts of armed robbery; Clarence Russell, 17, of Youngstown, 20 to 50 years in Mansfield, O., reformatory on a similar charge, and William Gaimer of Niles, O., six to 30 years in the reformatory on charges of burglary and larceny.

The prisoners escaped from county jail two weeks ago following an evening church service.

Mackenzie Asks What Goes With Peace of Big 3

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Winston Churchill calls for a faithful understanding with Russia through the United Nations to avoid war and urges the English-speaking world and the western democracies of Europe to move together in creating true fellowship with the Soviet Union.

That's well spoken. Few will disagree with Churchill for, as he adds, "only in this way can catastrophe be avoided." However when we sit down to figure out ways and means of creating fellowship with Russia we encounter difficulties.

DeWitt Mackenzie

The first obstacle we come up against is that it takes two to make a friendship, and that it involves at least a modicum of agreement on things which matter. There are as many points of disagreement between the western Allies on the one hand and the Russian on the other as there are seeds in a pomegranate.

The trend of the Big Four conference of foreign ministers in Paris gives us a good indication of how the wind lies. The conferees have been unable to agree on any major point of the European peace treaties, and as a result Secretary of State Byrnes has proposed that the drafting of these pacts be shifted to a 21-nation conference in Paris. The division of opinion has been between Russia and the Anglo-American pair, with France frequently trying to hold the balance between them. There has been a similar clash of viewpoints in the security council of UN.

Sees Two Sources

Well, what's the answer to all this disagreement? I believe that most of the differences arise from two main sources: These are (1) ideology, and (2) the tremendous turnover in the European spheres of influence of the great powers.

In the matter of political ideologies it might seem that the Big Three could agree to disagree, but actually that's far easier said than done. The totalitarian rule of Communism is utterly opposed to the democracy of the western Allies. Also, more than one of the latter believe that Moscow is engaged in a systematic crusade to spread Communism around the world. It's a fear which has dogged the countries of western Europe ever since Moscow proclaimed its ideal of world revolution a generation ago. And, of course, the Soviet is equally sure that the western Allies are trying to hamstring legitimate communist ambitions.

The dangers in the realignment of spheres of influence have been emphasized in this column before. A tremendous vacuum has been created in Europe by the disappearance of Germany and Italy as powers. That vacuum must be filled, and Russia is surging into it. Britain finds her position both on the continent and in the Mediterranean heavily challenged. He would be a rash prophet who predicted that this battle of giants could be halted before the realignment of domination has run its full course. The best one can do is pray that the turnover can be effected without another war.

Secrecy Plentiful

The great changes have been accompanied by vast secrecy. That naturally has created violent suspicions—and suspicions are breeders of trouble. Report has it in Paris that the United States and Britain have been considering the idea of insisting that Russia lift the lid of secrecy from eastern Europe so that the rest of the world can get a look. One wonders just what good that would do. For we know we should find that Moscow has consolidated the whole of that vast area, and the Balkans clear down as far as Greece and Turkey, into the Red sphere of influence. That's a fait accompli.

So as previously remarked, it isn't easy to figure out ways of creating fellowship with Russia right now, and undoubtedly Moscow finds the problem equally difficult.

Let's Keep Going

MARION HAS started on what should be one of the greatest forward movements in its history. The 73.04 per cent vote cast Tuesday for the school building and improvement program can be regarded as evidence that the people are ready and willing to support proposals for progress and that they need only able and conscientious leadership to enlist their aid in making such action permanent.

This must be leadership which wins and holds the confidence and respect of the people and which knows how to present proposals for community welfare and betterment clearly and convincingly. Such leadership was provided by the organization which arranged and sponsored the school program and it is gratifying to know that it will continue in service to make sure that the details will be carried through to fulfillment in accordance with the campaign announcements.

We hope the Marion Civic Planning Group will go still further by establishing itself as a permanent community service agency assigned to the job of keeping the city's advancement and development continually in motion. We can think of no other agency better suited to this vitally important undertaking, especially since the Group's efficiency, concern for Marion's welfare, and understanding of community needs were so notably demonstrated in the school improvement campaign.

IT IS now obvious that an energetic organization such as this, made up of representatives of all branches and phases of community life, is what Marion requires to keep it moving ahead and to hold its place high among the best cities of its size in the country. Yes, Marion always has had that high rating, but we're compelled to admit that there have been indications of danger that this recognition might be lost.

But there is good and sound reason to believe now that the danger is past. The grand victory for civic pride and progress scored at the polls Tuesday can justifiably be regarded as a move that tore down the red warning flag and opened the wide road that leads to a future of other and probably even greater community achievements.

This was a victory for Marion as a whole, for the people did it with their ballots. And not just a small part of the population voted, as is often the case in primary elections. Over 9,100 took part in the balloting, a total that is actually higher than in the average general election and consequently may be regarded as comprising virtually all who usually exercise their right of suffrage.

So this was in fact a declaration by the people that they want Marion to grow and prosper and to give them and their families all the benefits and advantages that a modern city can be expected to provide for its population. By their declaration they likewise present a challenge to those who are in position to assume places of leadership and responsibility in community affairs. To these leaders the people have in effect said, "We stand ready to back any program or proposal that can be proved essential to Marion's best interests."

WITH THIS evidence of unity and accord, which was never more unmistakable among the people of Marion, the course that should be followed is clear and direct. It is one that leads onward and upward. The time to enter upon that course is equally distinct. It is now, when the forward movement is already well under way and everything is favorable to its continuance.

Tuesday's great majority vote was a clarion "Let's go!" to Marion. There can be only one response. Under able leadership, Marion can and will heed the call and then keep on going.

Why Do We Feed the Starving?

THIS nation, tardily and perhaps inefficiently, is attempting to bear the main burden of food relief for Europe and Asia. It is doing the best it can within the limitations of a government badly confused by the necessity of tackling more major problems at once than its ability can cover.

A disturbing note is creeping into some of the propaganda for domestic food conservation—disturbing because it seems to originate in government sources. It is the suggestion that food relief is for the purpose of turning the minds of hungry people from thoughts of communism.

While it is undeniably true that hunger paves the way for political unrest, nothing could be more shortsighted than to "sell" food conservation to the American people on the claim that it is ideological appeasement—a guarantee against communism or any other political system. Disappointment is certain to be the consequence of such a claim.

Americans are helping to fight hunger because they accept an obligation to relieve suffering. It is performance of an ethical duty. We have helped at various times the Germans, Russians and the Japanese. We did not convert them to our system of living, nor did we expect to convert them. We helped them because they needed help. There are some obligations of civilization higher than the expediencies of politics which have become in our time an obsession.

Selection of Chief Justice Dilemma for Truman.

WASHINGTON, May 9—Newsmen pecked at Mr. Truman for delaying replacement of Chief Justice Stone. They had dressed up Justice Robert Jackson for the part of chief, and War Secretary Patterson for the resulting Republican vacancy at the foot of the court. No explanation was offered why this was not done, or why the President wanted more time.

Truth is the court has been in chaos. The only semblance of a balance wheel for the other eight flying legal dervishes was the late chief justice. He had a quieting disposition. He knew what law is, and what honor is. He also knew what justice was. Without his influence, the three-way split on the highest bench, which has prevented any settled understanding on a substantial part of major laws, would have degenerated to a public recognition of the farce which has hitherto been apparent only to the legal profession, in intimate touch with court goings-on.

Following Stone's death, Mr. Truman resisted an impulse to do the obvious thing politically. He nearly did it. He called a press conference to make an announcement, probably along the Jackson-Patterson solution, but the conference was twice delayed, and when finally held, it contained no information about the court matter except that the President was in no hurry. My information indicates he reconsidered an earlier decision, called in National Chairman Hannegan and ordered a thorough investigation of Democratic circuit court judges around the country, in an effort to find an experienced jurist who might help stabilize law at the highest level.

The President's dilemma is the greatest with which he has been confronted. Objective legal authorities have frequently suggested (although not from the housetops) that a generation would be required to restore settled law. Members of the warring factions on the court, involved in rewriting the constitution by peculiar legal twists of interpretation, and writing more new law in decisions than congress in passing laws, will have to die or reach retirement age before they can be replaced by men of judicial experience. Certainly no gain can be made if a man of calibre in his profession replaces Stone, but if one of the factional strivers was elevated to the chief justiceship, the court retreat into confusions would take full flight. In short, whatever Mr. Truman does, the court cannot gain much, but it can lose a lot more.

Indeed, many lawyers will tell you there are few men on the court today with sufficient experience to handle even the technical aspects of the chief justiceship, the assignment of cases and the routine transactions. Few have had much if any courtroom practise on either side of the bench.

Justice Robert Jackson would no doubt have been the popular choice, at least among eastern New Dealers and unionists, were it not for the turmoil bestirred by his handling of the Nuremberg trials. The outcome of that trial was popularly decided before it started. Everyone knew the Nazi leaders were to hang. But in arranging the trial preliminary to the hanging, Jackson wrote so much new law, that is, his actions established such a precedent, that both military and political leaders of any losing nations in wars hereafter may be hung on the same basis. Up to now, military leaders have been held responsible only for unmilitary conduct (violations of military customs). Political leaders were tried under the common law for violations of their office, for instance, with murder, arson, etc., never with political crimes in the realm of law which the Nazis built up in order to condemn enemies they could not rationally execute under existing law.

Black Not Mentioned

Justice Black rated the chief justiceship by seniority, but his name has not been mentioned generally. This is possible due to his restricted judicial experience, or to the fact that he is a firebrand of the court. Justice Frankfurter is Frankfurter. So is Justice Douglas. The name of Douglas has been occasionally mentioned as he is popular among the New Dealers, but he does not qualify with judicial experience in the legal profession. Justice Murphy has had more experience than others on the bench, but he has not been mentioned because the New Dealers do not like him. Justice Stanley Reed is rather well liked and had the experience of the attorney generalship, but Justice Rutledge is regarded as too new to the court and Justice Burton is a Republican. A Democratic administration would not mind filling the Stone vacancy with a Republican, but not in the chief justiceship.

Incidentally, no senators are campaigning for this job. They regard both it and the bench as practically incompatible to a pleasant or successful life.

It'll Be a Pleasure To Stay After School

In East Chicago, school children recently went on strike "for younger and pretty teachers."

More and more the technique of the walkout is permeating our way of life. At the rate we're going, tomorrow's baby will take his first step in a picket line.

This idea of students demanding young and pretty teachers is a novelty. Usually that's left up to members of the school board.

Times change: It used to be the demand was for unattractive teachers, inasmuch as the other kind was inclined to quit about mid-term to get married.

In those days, folks thought the plainer a school-marm was the better. And some there were who surpassed even the caricatures which the kids were wont to draw on their slates.

But if the current trend continues, applicants for teaching jobs will be requested to submit measurements instead of recommendations.

It's just a question of time now until someone comes up with the idea of holding beauty contests to fill vacancies on the faculty.

A Curb On Mr. Lewis

By RAYMOND MOLEY

EVERYBODY talks about John L. Lewis, but nobody does anything about him. Threats of dire punishment are of no importance to him. His personal daring and intelligence, his power over his miners, the weakness of the operators and the incapacity of the government have made his going easy. The problem of John L. Lewis is the problem of coal. If our economy were not so tightly funnelled through the coal industry, no man, even with the advantage of Mr. Lewis, could throw us into an economic brownout.

One way to lessen the Lewis threat is to grow less dependent upon coal. We can, with some safety, adapt our fuel consuming machinery more generally to the alternative use of oil, natural gas and water power. This partial solution for our dependence on coal will probably be pursued as the danger of recurrent coal strikes is more deeply impressed on big users. The coal industry realizes this fact and greatly fears what it calls "a flight from coal."

On the labor side, it is clear that labor forces needed for coal are relatively greater than for substitutes.

Alternatives Promising

In Russia and in the western United States, oil is a major alternative to coal. Possibilities for our use of oil are promising, for old and woeful predictions about exhausting the oil supply are now proved to be over-statements.

There is a limit to the expansion of water power as a substitute for coal. The best engineering judgment tells us that water power grows less efficient, while coal grows more efficient with improved power machinery. Waterpower plants deteriorate with years, while the power produced per ton of coal increases every year. Moreover, most industry in this country is not located convenient to the existing supplies of water power. This is a great disadvantage with present means of transmission.

The major fear of more great government waterpower projects stems from the socialistic trend thus encouraged. This is a real problem over the long run. An administration interested in vast government expansion might, in future, use such facilities to impose intolerable pressure on private industry. It might well turn out to be a case of bringing in a harsh master to curb another harsh master. It would mean public socialism as an alternative to the private socialism of John L. Lewis and his miners.

Protection

There could be measurable protection, however, for private enterprise in creating public power plants. Government might subsidize projects which, with help, might be built with private money and control. But this would be a possible solution only under a President and Congress less disposed toward increasing their own power than we have had in the past 13 years.

In any event, under the threats of Mr. Lewis, we are helpless in peace, as we were in war. And now, in peace, we can have no recourse to patriotism. This problem must be solved by doing something about fuel. We can do little about Mr. Lewis or his successors.

ONE WORLD—MANY HANDS

U. S. On Outside In Germany

By WALTER LIPPMANN

IN MY preceding article I pointed out that Prussia, which for many years has dominated Germany, is divided between the Russians and the British, and that in and from their respective zones they are carrying on a contest for the control of a reunited Germany.

Seen from Moscow this Anglo-Soviet duel is portrayed as a conflict between Fascism and anti-Fascism; seen from London, as a conflict between democracy and Communism. But seen from within Germany it is an auction in which the two rivals bid for German support, offering the Germans the very things they lost by losing the war—namely a united and centralized Reich, its territorial integrity, and finally its position as the greatest power of continental Europe.

The Americans have been relegated to southern Germany, where none of the great issues can be dealt with. We do not have the initiative or direct responsibility. We are on the sideline of the main contest. We can, for example talk to the Russians about food supplies from the Soviet zone and to the British about coal from the Ruhr.

But the first and the last word remains Russian or British, and the American participation is advisory and consultative, dealing with the accomplished facts that result from British or Russian activity in their respective zones. Since we are on the outside looking in, even our information is filtered, and our grasp of the general situation is indirect and uncertain. Though we belong to the board of directors, we do not have the kind of knowledge which only the management can possess.

U. S. At Disadvantage

It is necessary to dwell on this point because we cannot hope to work out a constructive settlement unless we can find a way to become in fact, not merely nominally as now, a principal power in Germany. I have already pointed out that our zone in southern Germany gives us no leverage in the predominant region, which is Prussia. I should now add that at Potsdam we made the enormous error of allowing the Russians to fix the eastern boundaries of Germany without insisting simultaneously upon determining the status of western Germany.

The Potsdam agreement left the Russians masters of eastern Germany; the nonagreement about the west left the British the masters of most of western Germany. The effect of this error has been to partition Prussia between the Russians and Britain, excluding the United States and France from direct participation in those German affairs which really count.

It follows, so it seems to me, that for us the right way back to influence is to repair the Potsdam error by intervening for a settlement in western Germany. If Secretary Byrnes and the State Department could be induced to invest in this vital region even a fraction of the brain power, nervous energy, and moral passion which they have expended on Bulgarian elections, Iran, and other secondary issues, they would begin to get some sort of grip upon the realities of war and peace.

This default in Washington—the failure and refusal to take an active interest in a settlement of western Germany—has had a confusing effect upon the American authorities in Germany.

In our own zone we are conducting a most promising experiment with the political decentralization of Germany. If the pattern, which we have applied to Bavaria and to two other south German states, were generally adopted, it would cause Germany to become a confederation of some 10 or 11 self-governing states.

No Other Suggestion

No one has ever suggested any other constitutional structure within which the Germans could be free without being a menace to their neighbors. And only by developing such a confederation can the four separate military governments be dissolved, and replaced eventually by a united Allied military supervision and control.

This is the American conception of how to deal with Germany. It is a good conception, and no one else has suggested a better one. But, outside our own zone, we not only do not promote our own demonstrated principle, but in fact use our influence against it. For, harassed by the practical difficulties of feeding and supplying Germany across the military zones, we have become the insistent advocates of re-establishing a central German administration—we do not admit that it would be a "central government" in Berlin.

Now it would be one thing to reestablish such a central government of limited powers—though it ought not to be in Berlin—if Prussia, like south Germany, had already been decentralized into a number of separate states. But Prussia has not been decentralized; on the contrary, as I have already reported, the British and the Russians are more and more committed to promising the Germans a unified and centralized Prussia, dominating a unified and centralized Reich.

The French have vetoed the central administration which Gen. Clay demands. They will not agree even to the rudimentary beginnings of a central German government in Berlin until the Ruhr and the Rhineland have been politically separated from Prussia, of which they are now an integral part. This is regarded as stubborn obstruction. But in truth the French have been defending our own principle, and protecting us against sacrificing to immediate expediency our best contribution to a lasting solution of the German question.

The Weekend

By TRUMAN TWILL

Once more on Monday mornings, as in t good old days, the big story is the grand total the weekend's killed and injured, with a wist statement by some fuddy-duddy that somethi should be done about Sunday traffic.

Nothing is going to be done. There will b elimination of a traffic hazard here and there and a battle to keep motorists from getting co pletely out of hand with their lethal antics, b the fatal weekend is here to stay.

It is going to get bigger and better. We hav just begun to pull over to the curb to make wa for screaming ambulances. Newspapers wi have to run off special editions to publish t casualties of the future.

Just over the horizon is the weekend airplan toll zooming to the top of accident statistic Travelers who survive the deadly car tag playe by mischievous motorists will have another chance to get conked in the sky.

Saturday night and all day Sunday debris w fall from the heavens—empty liquor bottle banana skins and occasionally a passenger. Th highway guard rail that keeps automobiles fro running amuck will have its counterpart in t fragment-resistant cover for the house, to kee chunks of airplanes from hurtling through th roof.

In due course of time something will have t be done about airplanes themselves. What goe up must come down, and when millions of th things go up hundreds will come down a litt sooner than expected and in the wrong place

We can start looking forward to ads th will say:

The ritzier havens will be indoor-outdoor lay outs protected by antiaircraft guns and rest tions. Twitchy guests will pay through the nose for that priceless feeling of security for a fe hours—no plane within sight or sound—we ha never lost a customer.

Blimps will patrol the skies with nets stretche between them to catch loose propellers, erra babies that have toddled through open doors an flustered old ladies who took the wrong tur and stepped into the blue instead of the powder room.

We lower classes will huddle in metal and concrete shelters on our premises until the a clears late Sunday night and it is safe eno more to get out into the open.

CLINICS SET FOR CHILDREN

Children Entering School Next Fall Are To Be Given Examinations.

Children who will enter school next year will have the opportunity for a physical examination next week under a pre-school clinic program sponsored by the city board of health and local organizations.

The clinics will be held at 12 elementary schools in the city Monday through Friday. Examinations will start at 9 a. m. and will continue all morning. Object of the examinations is to find defects which can be treated, if possible, before the child begins school.

Organizations cooperating with the city board of health of Medicine, the Marion Co. Dental society, and the Seventh District Nurses' Association.

Thirty-three local doctors and dentists have donated their services to the program. Miss Ida Britt, Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., nurse and Miss Kathleen Thomas, city nurse, are also assisting.

Under the direction of Mrs. Perry Hall, chairman of the pre-school clinic roundup committee of the P.-T. A., teams of P.-T. A. members have conducted a canvass during the last two months to bring the clinics to the attention of parents of eligible children.

Parents are asked to take their children to the nearest school where the examinations are being given. The schedule is as follows:

Monday—Greenwood school, Drs. Clare Smith, E. H. Morgan and A. O. Linscott; Oak school, Drs. J. G. McNamara, C. G. Smith and V. C. Kissell; St. Mary school, Drs. J. A. McNamara, Robert T. Gray and A. J. Wagner.

FOES OF DILLON DAM GET SECOND CHANCE

By The Associated Press

ZANESVILLE, O., May 9—Members of the Licking County Protective association were afforded another breather today in their exhaustive fight against the government-proposed $10,000,000 Dillon dam.

Col. Beverly C. Dunn Jr., Ohio river division engineer, provided them with new hope yesterday when he set a second public hearing here for May 15 on the project. On that day, association spokesmen will be given another chance to present their substitute proposal of 13 smaller dams on the Licking river.

Dunn's announcement followed a demand in Washington for such a meeting by Rep. J. Harry McGregor, West Lafayette Republican. McGregor said the last meeting here gave opponents of the single dam no opportunity adequately to present their case.

His protests, however, seemed vain in the face of Army engineers confidence that the project would proceed as scheduled. Only yesterday several officers told a Washington reporter that only a "directive" from congress or "some unusual situation" could delay construction.

Other signs which made a second meeting seem unlikely were: (1) the $2,000,000 already appropriated for Dillon; (2) Baltimore and Ohio railroad's opening of bids on relocation of 20 miles of its tracks through the Licking valley; (3) the house flood control committee has concluded hearings.

Col. Dunn said he or some representative would be present at the May 15 meeting, along with Lt. Col. Frank Gano, Huntington, W. Va., district engineer, and Lt. Col. Harry Pockras, Gano's assistant.

HIGHEST PAID AAF PRIVATE AND FAMILY — Pvt. James L. Triplett of Vallejo, Calif., shown with his wife and 10 children, is said by the AAF to be their highest paid private. He draws $315.96 monthly. L. to r., wife, Lorraine, 29, holding William, 3 months; Arthur, 12; Elsie, 11; Ruth, 9; James, Jr., 8; Wilma, 7; Janet, 6; Clarence Milo, 5; Florence, 3; and Clarence Allen, 2.

Officers Are Elected by Class at Morral

Election of officers for the new year followed a potluck supper when members of Home Builders Class 1 of the Morral Methodist church met recently with Mrs. Mae Wood in Morral. All officers were reelected and are as follows: Mrs. Wood, president and treasurer; Mrs. Myrta Sloat, vice president; and Mrs. Buford Jones, secretary.

The class song, scripture by Mrs. E. I. Obee, and prayer by Rev. Obee opened the meeting. Roll call was answered with sayings about mother by famous people. Numbers were drawn for meetings for the coming conference year and several birthday anniversaries were honored.

Mrs. L. E. Neal and Mrs. Obee were in charge of the program which was in keeping with Mother's day. Readings were given by Rev. Obee, Mrs. Martha Richards, Mrs. Wade Wright, Mrs. Buford Jones, Mrs. Sloat, Mrs. Wood, and Mrs. Neal. Several songs dedicated to Mother were sung by the group and Mrs. Effie Haner presented a solo, "My Mother's Prayer."

A social hour followed the meeting with contest honors going to Rev. Obee, and the guessing box award to Mrs. Obee. Flowers were given to the oldest mother present, Mrs. Nancy McIntire.

TRUMAN AIDES MAP TRAFFIC DEATH DRIVE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 9—President Truman's highway safety conference worked today on the technical job of applying the brakes to the nation's accelerating motor death toll.

Eight committees of experts concentrated on as many aspects of the task with the twin purpose of unifying traffic regulations and of bringing public opinion squarely behind a campaign to make the roads safe.

The committee work included studies on accident records, education, enforcement, road engineering, laws and ordinances, motor vehicle administration, organized public support and public information.

In a report completed in advance of the conference, the committee emphasized that permanent reduction of the automobile accident rate can come only through:

1. Impartial enforcement of traffic regulations.
2. Modern engineering of roads
3. Education of drivers and pedestrians.
4. Uniform rules of the road.

In a review of current campaigns to enlist public support for elimination of road accidents, the committee said they were "spotty and too often spasmodic" and urged an intensified effort through the press, radio and movies.

Peace Talks Ended in Barberton Strike

By The Associated Press

BARBERTON, O., May 9—Negotiations between representatives of the Chemical Workers local union, an affiliate of the AFL-United Mine Workers, and the Columbia chemical division of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. on a wage dispute idling 1,600 workers were broken off last night as the factions failed to reach agreement.

The nine-day strike, which also has idled 400 office workers kept from their jobs by picket lines, was called by unionists in support of demands for an 18½-cent wage increase. Federal Conciliators Clyde Mills and John Hasson conducted last night's session and reported no further negotiation meetings were scheduled.

SHERIFF TO WELCOME PROBE OF GAMBLING

By The Associated Press

STEUBENVILLE, May 9—An investigation of slot machine operations in Jefferson county, demanded by Governor Frank J. Lausche, will be welcomed "at any time," says Sheriff Robert D. Bates.

The governor said he expected a "thorough investigation and legal action by state authorities, liquor agents or others" after a Steubenville ex-soldier and his father admitted counterfeiting slugs to regain mustering-out pay the veteran said he lost in slot machines.

Woodrow Wilson Taylor, 24, and his father, Earle W. Taylor, 56, pleaded guilty to the counterfeiting charge before Federal Judge Mell G. Underwood at Columbus last Monday. They were placed on 18 months probation.

Lausche, who had followed the case, declared it was "shocking to believe that the racketeers who are the principal profiteers are permitted by law enforcement officials to remain unmolested."

Commenting on the governor's demand for an investigation, Sheriff Bates said:

"Mr. Lausche may come to this county or send any one he desires at any time. There is no secret about the county as far as I know."

STRIKES

nnt today but that he would later He added he did not contemplate doing it in a message to the people

One step under consideration he said is calling Lewis and the coal operators to a joint conference at the White House Lewis saw Mr Truman several weeks ago But, the President wouldn't say today what had been discussed then

With only enough emergency supplies of coal remaining in the hands of the solid fuels administration to meet the nation's normal demands for a half day, the Civilian Production Administration took the lead in conservation moves

It ordered utilities in states east of the Mississippi and in Missouri Iowa and Minnesota to make the most effective possible use of non-coal fuels for generation of power and to pool utility system facilities so as to equalize coal stocks to the greatest amount practical in the current national emergency

Two Stages Urged

The CPA also proposed that utilities commissions in those states impose their own rationing in two stages

1 Ban electricity for advertising display lighting car heating air conditioning places of amusement and progressive curtailment of commercial and industrial usage on a percentage or hours of-use basis

2 Forbid all uses except for public health and safety hospitals food processing and other essential community services

An order readied by CPA for issuance probably today would authorize the rationing of manufactured gas—a possible blow to the householder who cooks with that fuel

But more immediately, the government's ban on non essential railroad freight shipments and the 25 per cent slash in rail passenger service goes into effect at midnight tonight To supplement this order the Office of Defense Transportation urgently appealed to motor carriers to give priority to the movement of food, fuel and other essentials

Congress Boils

On Capitol Hill as one lawmaker after another angrily denounced the shutdown Senator Eastland (D-Miss) said he and others would seek to put aside the British loan bill in favor of the senate version of the Case strike control bill already passed by the house

Senator Lucas (D-Ill) said he would have ready a bill to outlaw interruptions to public utility and health services And Senator Byrd (D-Va) demanded action on a measure to forbid any royalty payments to a union.

Mainly the congressional ire was directed at one man—John L Lewis head of the 400 000 striking United Mine Workers

Lewis spent yesterday in his office and did not attend the government – sponsored conferences aimed at ending the strike

Government Mediators Edward F McGrady and Paul W Fuller struggled against odds to break the deadlock and bring about negotiation of a new contract Lewis terminated the old working agreement April 1, touching off the strike No progress was reported or apparent in any direction were announced jointly by the Office of Economic Stabilization the agriculture department, and the Office of Price Administration

See Long Shortage

The announcement said the world food shortage is expected to continue throughout 1946 and, at least, until the 1947 harvest.

The government said several times as many people could be fed with grain for direct human consumption as the number that could be fed with livestock produced by the same amount of grain

The government said it would ask farmers to produce fewer pigs this fall than a year ago and to market present and future hogs at weights of not more than 225 pounds. Hogs moving to market during the past 12 months have averaged more than 250 pounds

Sharp culling of poultry flocks, beginning immediately, also was called for The government said egg production would not suffer materially if farmers culled their least efficient hens.

Final Report on Red Withdrawal Ready, Iran Chief Hints

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 9—Iranian sources indicated today—amid a stony Soviet silence—that they hoped to report soon and conclusively to the United Nations security council on the departure of Russian troops from Iran

The Iranians appeared satisfied with the council's action yesterday in deferring further discussion of the Soviet-Iranian issue until May 20 to obtain fuller information on which to determine its next move

As Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala prepared to return to Washington today a spokesman for Iran said he expected a "conclusive" report from his government well before that date

The council in the face of Russian Delegate Andrei Gromyko's boycott of yesterday's meeting and the continuous silence of Moscow on the council's request for information on Iran, decided not to call on Russia again for the status of Red army withdrawals

Instead on the motion of U S Delegate Edwar R Stettinius Jr it took into account 'the communication and travel difficulties in that remote area and asked Iran to supplement her preliminary report of May 6 as soon as possible or report any information whatever not later than May 20

Ala reported in a memorandum to the council Monday night that four northern provinces had been cleared but that interference in Azerbaijan prevented Iran from ascertaining whether the evacuation there was complete

The security council adjourned without setting a date for its next meeting

DRIVE PRESSED FOR HOUSING SUBSIDIES

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON May 9 — The administration made a final desperate bid to break the deadlock over President Truman's emergency housing program today by asking the house to reverse its positive anti subsidy stand

Chairman Spence (D Ky) of the banking committee told newsmen

If the vote for approval of subsidies fails the program to build 2 700 000 houses in two years will be blown up'

The housing bill came back for another vote because the senate-house conference committee assigned the task of trying to compromise different versions deadlocked on the administration's proposal for $600 000 000 in so called premium payments to manufacturers of scarce building materials These payments would be in lieu of general price increases in an effort to hold down the cost of new homes

The senate voted to authorize the subsidies after the house had rejected them on a 161 to 92 vote Neither body would yield when their conferees sought to iron out the differences

Spence then said he would move that the house instruct its conferees to concur in the senate bill but on condition that the subsidy figure be cut from $600 000 000 to $400 000 000

Aside from the controversial subsidy proposal the bill provides

1 An increase of $1 000 000 000 in government authority to insure home mortgage loans

2 Continuance for a year beyond June 30 of the war granted priorities and allocation authority for channeling scarce building materials into construction of low and medium priced homes

3 Preference for veterans in the purchase or rental of new houses

4 Price ceilings on new houses

5 Broad authority for Wyatt to issue directives to other government agencies including OPA on prices of building materials

Mother Seeks Names for Siamese Twins

By The Associated Press

PORTLAND Ore May 9—The names of Siamese twins born here to Mr and Mrs. Edward Hurse may be given today if the mother can make her choice for the two blonde girls, the Portland General hospital reported

Meanwhile, the twins, joined near the base of the spine in a manner that the attending physician said may prevent the girls walking upright if they survive, were taking nourishment normally

They were three days old today

BRITISH LOAN DELAY FOUGHT IN SENATE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 9—Scoring victory in a battle that began April 15 Democratic leaders fought new delaying actions today in an effort to win senate approval of the $3 750 000 000 British loan

The senate arranged to vote at 1 p m on a move by Senator Edwin C Johnson (D Colo) to cut short further action Johnson contends the pending bill is a revenue raising measure which the constitution requires the house to vote upon first

Administration leaders said they were confident they have the votes to beat this but Senators Eastland (D-Miss) McClellan (D Ark) O Daniel (D-Tex) and others planned to demand the senate pigeonhole the loan bill to take up strike control legislation

Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) held firmly to his determination to get a vote on passage of the loan bill before any other measure is considered He said the senate then must act on extension of the draft act, which expires May 15 before it can do anything about labor legislation

Barkley predicted defeat of all pending amendments to the loan bill He based this forecast on the senate's action yesterday in rejecting 45 to 40 an amendment by Senator McFarland (D Ariz)

McFarland proposed Britain give the United States title to Atlantic bases under 99-year lease and negotiate the sale of some commercial rights to other empire bases built by this country during the war

KEEPS TO CITY LIMITS

By The United Press

NEW BRAUNFELS Tex —This is probably the only municipality that has its own river The Comal river rises and ends within the town's limits.

And it's no trifling river Fed by never-ceasing springs, it has a flow strong enough to operate a half dozen plants, including a flour mill feed mill, hosiery plant wool mill and supply a large park where the Phillies of the National baseball league train

An activity of the Marion County chapter of the American Red Cross for the next three months will be that of aiding in the famine emergency campaign, it was announced today In keeping with the plans of the national committee the conservation of food resources will be emphasized and the work of the local committee will be to aid housewives in planning dishes which do not use the essential foods to help the starving millions abroad and the use of substitutes for these needed foods

Following meetings of the nutrition and canteen committees earlier this week the first of a series of weekly pamphlets were placed in a number of grocery stores throughout the city with suggestions for substitutions and conservation facts and housewives are asked when purchasing food to take one Mrs Frances J Hurst is chairman of the nutrition committee and Miss Ruth Kleinmaier is chairman of the canteen committee Cooperating with the committee are members of the motor corps who will distribute the pamphlets each week The recipes will be issued and will bear the recommendation of the committees

PICKETS BAR BUSES AT EAST LIVERPOOL

By The Associated Press

EAST LIVERPOOL, O May 9—Striking AFL bus drivers today picketed the terminal and parking garage of Valley Motor Transit Co preventing three inter-state bus lines from entering the terminal and halting repairs on other terminal vehicles

This development on the seventh day of a strike that tied public transportation in a five city area of 140 000 population followed the drivers rejection of a company offer to end the wage dispute

Picketing of the terminal prevented Ohio Greyhound Terminal Inc Pennsylvania Greyhound Lines Inc and All American bus lines operating through here from picking up or discharging passengers at the terminal Drivers on these three lines are members of the same union representing the strikers—the Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach employes

Interstate lines were able to discharge and pick up passengers in the street near the terminal however

Picketing at the garage halted repair work on Valley Motor Transit buses as AFL mechanics honored the picket line

Last night negotiations lasting three and one half hours failed to bring a settlement of the wage dispute Rejected was an offer which C A Smith president of the company said would give each of the 120 drivers a monthly raise of $10 to $11 an estimated five per cent increase in take home pay

The union scale is an hourly of $1 20 plus time and one half for work in excess of eight and one half hour daily and a guaranteed work-week

Good Trees and Good Taverns

About the finest stand of timber in our county is on Asa Fullmore's farm. Asa says it's due to "regulation"—checking on trees that don't come up to standard, and trimming them off to give the other trees a chance for healthy livelihood.

He was explaining it to us in Andy Botkin's Garden Tavern, and Andy nodded approvingly.

"The same goes for any industry," says Andy. "Like the brewers who give us tavern keepers beer to sell. If they find the place isn't up to standard—clean and courteous and wholesome—they start giving warning. Then, if the warning isn't heeded, they start trimming!"

From where I sit, self regulation within the brewing industry has done as much to give us pleasant, wholesome places to enjoy a moderate glass of beer, as Asa Fullmore's forestry has done to keep his white pines tall and healthy. It's nature's own protection—and the best there is!

Galion Tourist Club Holds Annual Meeting

GALION, May 9—Conclusion of the study year for the Tourist club was observed Tuesday evening with the annual banquet at the Curtis Martin home. Favors were small vases which Mrs. E. B. Beall sent from Mexico. Arrangements were in charge of Mrs. Beall, Mrs. Grant Ulmer and Miss Clara Menzer.

Remainder of the evening was spent at the home of Miss Hulda Klopp who was assisted by Mrs L. D. DeSilets and Mrs Clarence Myers.

Mrs. Lester Ritz spoke briefly and turned the gavel over to the new president, Mrs. John Kidd.

Parents Hear of Son's Death from Mayor of French Town

From the ex-mayor of a small French town, nearly three years after the death of their son, Tech. Sgt. Charles W .Speece, word has come to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Speece of near Kirkpatrick, Marion rural route, concerning the circumstances of his death. The message, written in French, was received about three weeks ago, and the letter was brought by the family to Harding High school here for translation. Revealed was a story of occupied France and of loyal Frenchmen whose cause was identified with the fighting men of the Allies, marked by their tribute to a "fallen American hero."

Sgt. Speece, radio operator on a B-24 bomber, was reported by the U. S. government as missing in action as of Aug. 27, 1943. His plane had been shot down in the northwest coastal area of France. The message came to his parents through the International Red Cross. Word that he had been listed officially as dead, was received April 9, 1944.

The letter, from M. Lottin Henri, ex-mayor of Carolles, Manche, (English Channel section), France, was addressed "M. Faria Speece," "22 RR" A a Marion (actually Marion Rural Route 4), Etat de Ohio Amerique." It was written Feb. 26 this year. A postscript explains that the writer wanted to send his letter sooner, but because of mailing conditions it was impossible.

Text of Letter

The text of the letter, translated literally, follows, with the salutation addressed to "Mr. or Mrs:"

"I do not know if I speak to a man or to a woman. I excuse myself of it. My letter has not other way that to give to you some news from your relative Charles Speece, Sgt aviator.

I was mayor of the village of Carolles during the war, but on 20th of September, 1943, I was informed that the sea had thrown out the body of an American aviator on the rocks in a place almost inaccessible. I went with two policemen and I informed, as I was pledged, the German 'Feldgendarmerie' (military police), which after they searched the body and deducted the papers and the money, gave to me the permission to proceed with the burial. But they have forbidden me to take the name and to divulge in my report.

"In spite of this prohibition, I took some papers, some money and the watch of your relative. I restored all these things to an American colonel, who gave to me a receipt, which must be yet in the townhall in the hands of my successor.

"We think the aviator has leaped from his airplane with a parachute, which was open, but having fallen in the sea, he was drowned. The sea threw out him around one month after the fall, on 20th of September, 1943.

"I had a coffin made of two meters long (approximately six and a half feet), because he was very tall, and we have shrouded him in his parachute and brought to the cemetery and put in the place of honor reserved to the soldier dead for France.

"I was not allowed to do a ceremony of funeral I did get to come the priest, who said some prayers. Afterwards all the people of the village ran up to bring flowers and later put a stone in granite with a badge with the words, 'Unknown American Flying Sgt., thrown out by the sea on 20th of September, 1943'

"The people wished to honor to the first of our liberators. During the time he was at Carolles, the population took care of the tomb and there were always many flowers. Later, the American authorities took the body and brought him, I believe, in an American military cemetery at Marigny, in the same county as Carolles, where you must now know he reposes A religious service paid by the population of the village was performed in the church of Carolles and all the families were represented.

"Old combattant of 1914-1918. It is with emotion that I write to you this story. It is all what I can do for the American hero fallen the first in my village. Carolles is a little village of 628 inhabitants and a little bathing beach, between Grandville and the Mont Saint Michel in the county of Manche.

"If some other informations can be useful to you, I am at your disposition. We, the French people, shall never know how to thank the American and all the allied soldiers who have given back to us our liberty."

Spring Basket Salad
ge honey dew melons, 4

strawberries, 1 bunch
ess,
melons crosswise in ¾
ces. Remove seeds. Peel
the slices. Cut four addi-slices in half; trim away dge pulp (the crescentrinds are used later, as handles). Section oranges.
Peel bananas; score lengthwise with tines of fork; slice on the diagonal; drop into orange juice. Wash and cap strawberries. Place the 8 whole slices of melon on 8 salad plates. Fill centers with orange sections and cubed melon. Make a border around slice with bananas. Circle strawberries around center. Break toothpick in half. Insert blunt ends in melon slice, at opposite points. Skewer "handles" on sharp ends. Garnish plates with watercress.

Sour cream, sweetened with a little honey or sugar, makes a perfect dressing for this salad. Or, if you're lucky enough to have a bit of mayonnaise, use it half-and-half with sour cream and sweeten, if desired.

Coffee Pecan Fluff

1 tablespoon unflavored gelatine, ¼ cup cold, strong coffee, 2 cups hot, strong coffee, 1/3 cup sugar, 2 egg whites, beaten, ½ cup chopped pecan meats.

Sprinkle gelatine on cold coffee. Add 1 cup hot coffee; stir until gelatine dissolves. Add remaining coffee and sugar; stir until sugar dissolves. Chill until syrupy. Beat with rotary beater until light and fluffy. Fold in egg whites and pecan meats. Turn into 8 individual molds which have been rinsed in cold water. Chill until set. Unmold. Serve with plain cream.

Two Ways To Make Iced Coffee

1. Make coffee double strength either by using twice the amount of coffee to the usual amount of water or by reducing the amount of water one-half to the normal amount of coffee. Follow the procedure which produces the best coffee in your equipment. Pour it hot and fresh into a tall glass filled with ice cubes.

2. Make coffee full strength. Pre-cool for not more than three hours. By doing this you reduce the dilution resulting from the melting of ice, therefore extra strength is not required. Serve in a tall glass full of ice.

Two Confess Theft of Mussolini's Body

By The Associated Press

MILAN, Italy May 9—Two men have confessed stealing Mussolini's body, telling police they would disclose its whereabouts on the promise that the body would be reburied in the Mussolini family plot at Predappio, the prefect of Milan said today.

Authorities have not identified the two men.

In Rome, Interior Minister Giuseppe Romita said the offer had been refused.

"The government absolutely will not deal on this," he declared. "Do you think we want a national monument at Predappio?"

Romita said the "remains apparently are hidden in Milan." The body was taken from an unmarked grave in a Milan potter's field.

Ringer's Inn Scene of Calvary Dinner

Ten Miscues Cost Marion Double Loss at Zanesville

Special to The Star

ZANESVILLE, May 9—The Marion Cardinals return to their home Lincoln Park tonight for the first of a three game series with Newark after dropping a double header to Zanesville last night They have now fallen to sixth place in the standings in the Ohio State league

Air tight Zanesville pitching in the first game and a sieve-like Cardinal defense in the nightcap gave the Dodgers their double victory and the series two games to one

Dave Molloy and Fred Fass who are becoming ranking favorites for the title of 'tough luck' pitcher were credited with the two losses

Errors Are Costly

Molloy allowed only five Dodger hits but a pair of Cardinal errors helped Zanesville put over two runs in the first inning and put him in a hole

The Birds came back to knot the score but in the fifth inning Molloy allowed a single and a double to give the Dodgers their margin of victory

In the second game errors helped spell out the tale of defeat Marion led all Ohio State league teams in boots yesterday, chalking up 10 in the two games

Trouble In First

Fass got into trouble in the first inning when four hits and two Marion errors spotted the Dodgers four runs Zanesville went ahead to score at least once in each of the five succeeding innings

The Cardinals outhit the Dodgers 12 to 9 in the second game

Dodgers Come Back After "Last Out" Miscue.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, May 9 — 'Dem Bums won by a stumble here yesterday

After Bert Haas Cincinnati first baseman stubbed his toe and missed a lazy foul fly that would have ended the game the Brooklyn Dodgers overcame a 5-2 Cincy lead tied up the game in the ninth and went on to win, 8 to 5, in the extra inning

Here's how it happened

Clyde Shoun, veteran Cincinnati southpaw, had scattered 10 hits and was breezing through with two outs in the last of the ninth

Brooklyn runners were on first and third Ed Stanky lifted a lazy foul back of first Haas drifted back after what looked like a sure out and a Red victory

Shoun started for the clubhouse The fans started for home

Haas reached for the descending ball and his spikes caught on the pitching rubber in the Brooklyn bullpen He went down and the ball fell beside him

Stanky, given life drew a walk and Manager Bill McKechnie replaced Shoun with Clayton Lambert

On Lambert's first pitch Billy Herman belted a double off the score board clearing the bases and tying the score

In the tenth pinchhitting Don Padgett put the ball over the right field screen for a three-run homer

OSL Clubs Run Up List of 46 Errors In Six-Game Card

By The Associated Press

Ohio State league baseballers might well be in the market for bushel baskets today

Baskets would have come in handy during the Class D circuit's six games last night as the eight teams committed the amazing total of 46 errors

At Springfield, the league-leading Giants won easily enough 14 to 5 but they toted up seven errors to Middletown's six in doing it

Eleven errors were committed in a double header at Newark as Lima won the first 6 to 5 and lost the second 6 to 4 Errors for Lima 7, for Newark 4

Another series of bobbles took place at Zanesville The Dodgers took both ends of the doubleheader there from Marion 4 3 and 10-4 Marion took dubious honors in the error department being charged with seven in one game and three in the other Zanesville's two game total was six

And finally at Richmond the home team defeated Dayton 7 to 2, but out-errored the Indians 4 to 2

FELLER TOPS A'S 5-2; BLACK TO TRY TODAY

Bob Runs Strikeout List to 59 So Far.

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, May 9—Don Black, right-handed fastballer, makes his first start for the Cleveland Indians today against his old teammates, the Philadelphia Athletics in an attempt to give the Tribe a sweep of the two-game series here

Manager Lou Boudreau gave Black who has shown fine form in four relief appearances the assignment yesterday after Bob Feller defeated the A's 5 to 2 to halt the Indians seven-game losing streak.

Rapid Robert whiffed 11 Philadelphia batters to extend his league-leading strikeout total to 59 while slamming the American league cellar door in the face of the A's

Feller's mates gave a rare exhibition of bunching their bingles with a five-run third inning which clinched the victory for Bob eight days after he pitched a no hit shutout over the New York Yankees Cleveland's record for its first dreary eastern trip which ends today now stands at two triumphs and seven losses

Rookie Catcher Sherman Lollar opened the Tribe's half of the third frame with a single and advanced to third on Ray Mack's double Lollar scored on Feller's fly Case and Lemon doubled, Rocco singled Edwards walked Boudreau singled Keltner's long fly scored Rocco to account for a total of five runs

Philadelphia made its first run on Jack Caulfield's double and a single by Tuck Stainback and a trio of one-basers accounted for another marker in the ninth before Feller fanned George Armstrong for the final out

Bobo Newsom erstwhile Cleveland nemesus who has copped three of the A's five victories this season, toils for Philadelphia today

Bosox' Johnny Pesky Hailed As Season's Top Shortstop

Slugging Infielder Ranked by Actual Figures Above Year's Great Array of Stars.

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

In a year when the major leagues boast the greatest array of shortstops in the history of baseball, the Boston Red Sox' Johnny Pesky stands out today as probably the finest of them all

Boosters of Phil Rizzuto of the New York Yankees, Lou Boudreau of Cleveland Cecil Travis of Washington, Luke Appling of the Chicago White Sox Vern Stephens of the St Louis Browns, Marty Marion of the St. Louis Cardinals Pee Wee Reese of Brooklyn and Eddie Miller of Cincinnati might put up a strong argument for their favorites but the figures prove Pesky stands all alone at the top of this brilliant cast

The five foot nine inch native of Portland Ore who last Monday was stopped one hit short of tying the major league record of 12 consecutive hits tied another standard yesterday when he slashed six times in a 14 10 slugfest won by Boston over Jimmy Dykes Chicago White Sox

Breaks Old Mark

Pesky erased the former American league high mark of five held by Lou Gehrig and Jimmy Foxx among others and joined Mel Ott of the New York Giants as the only modern to accomplish this feat Guy Hecker holds the all time high of seven made in 1886 with Louisville of the American Association

Including the four hits he collected in yesterday's game Pesky has garnered 39 hits in 91 times at bat for a 429 average to lead both leagues in batting He also has scored the most runs—30 In his first year in the big leagues —1942—before he joined the Navy for a three year hitch the 26-year old shortfielder led the circuit in hits on a 331 batting mark

With Ted Williams Rudy York and Bobby Doerr joining Pesky in the Boston hit parade, the American league leaders slammed four Chicago pitchers for 17 safeties to set a new club record of 18 consecutive victories, topping their 1939 skein by one.

Rookies Bidding for Places in Majors

Southpaw Mickey Harris was hit hard, but had his fifth straight victory saved for him by Dave (Boo) Ferriss, who came to his assistance in the ninth inning.

The New York Yankees remained three and a half lengths behind the Red Sox when they triumphed over the St. Louis Browns 5-1. Spud Chandler joined Harris as the major's only five game winners by holding the Sewellmen to three hits, two of which came in the ninth when the Browns scored their one run. A three-run homer by Rizzuto was the big blow off lefthander Sam Zoldak.

Detroit's Hal Newhouser and Cleveland's Bobby Feller, who with Chandler and Boston's Tex Hughson, are expected to fight it out for the league's pitching leadership, each hurled a masterful game with Newhouser blanking the Washington Senators, 1-0, and Feller whipping the Philadelphia Athletics, 5-2.

Hal's Second Shutout

Newhouser, sidelined for a week with bone chips in the elbow of his pitching arm, signified his return to normalcy by holding the Nats to two hits in registering his second shutout. A triple play by the Tigers in the third inning helped Newhouser. With men on first and second, Eddie Mayo caught a liner deflected off Newhouser's bare hand, touched second and threw to first to complete the triple killing.

With Dave Kelso besting Pittsburgh's Fritz Ostermueller in an all-lefty pitching duel, the New York Giants advanced into a fifth place tie with the Pirates by shading the Bucs, 1-0.

Phil Cavarretta, Lou Stringer and Ed Waitkus led a 14-hit attack with three hits apiece as the Chicago Cubs trampled the Boston Braves, 10-5, to move into third place in the National league.

The St. Louis Cardinals protected their first place lead with a 3-2 triumph over Philadelphia's Phils in a night contest.

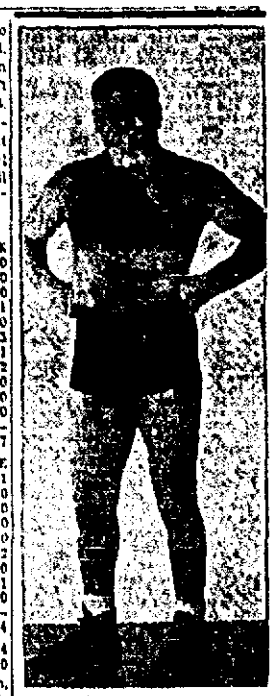
Monty LaDue and Ali Pasha will vie with each other for roughness in tonight's two hour main wrestling event at the Armory.

In the one hour semi-final Steve Nenoff will meet Ace Abbott who doubles between falls as a hill billy guitar strummer. Frank D'Amato and Roy Pletcher will put on a 15 minute one fall bout as the preliminary at 8:10 p. m.



"Wrestles Texas Singer Tonite"

Steve Nenoff, Toledo Bulgarian, will wrestle Ace Abbott, the singing Cowboy from Texas, tonight in the semi-final to the main go between Monty LaDue and Ali Pasha. The two top matches stand out as the roughest and cleanest seen in a long time at the Marion Armory. The match between Abbott and Nenoff should be one of the fastest and cleanest while the referee is instructed not to disqualify either Pasha or LaDue for they are two of the roughest ever seen here. A "Mike" is wired up for Ace to sing some more of his Texas songs. A 15 minute prelim between two Marion boys, Frank D'Mato and Ray Pletcher will open the all star show at 8:30. No advance in prices. LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

THERE was no hesitancy in my reply to Olina's appeal.

"Say nothing whatever to Mary," I said.

She stared at me blankly.

"I do not understand," she said. "I planned to humiliate her publicly. She cleverly thwarted that, but because of me, my stepfather did insult her with his comment upon that ring, especially after Mary had told of Georges' showing it to her. In effect he was saying to Mary that either she was lying now or Georges had lied to her in that time long ago."

"Yes, I know," I told her, for there was no use denying a palpable truth. "But thanks to your mother, he got what we call over here his 'come-uppance' and Mary was completely vindicated.

"And, don't you see," I went on, "that because of Mary's action there is no record of any word or gesture of yours which possibly could have reflected upon you?

"She herself acted upon the ring, held it up for inspection, admired it, and asked you if it didn't mean a betrothal. And then you luckily played into her hand by asking her how she knew the ring, and gave her the chance to establish herself as a former candidate for it, not a looked-down upon-commoner, as she herself would put it."

"I could have bitten my tongue through when I asked her that," Olina confessed, "and then afterward, I was glad I had put the question.

"I suppose," she added shrewdly, "Mary counted upon my doing just that."

"Yes," I answered honestly, "I am sure she did.

"But, Olina," I added hastily, "you may be sure of one thing. I had no foreknowledge of what Mary was going to do. I really don't think she had much of a plan herself. Most of her performance was impromptu, I'm sure."

Olina's face was suddenly thoughtful.

"How did she find out what I was going to do?" she asked. But before I could voice the evasive answer I had planned for just this expected query, she answered her own question.

Wouldn't Betray Confidence

"Of course Maman told you, and asked you to tell her," she said calmly. "Please don't say anything either yes or no. You wouldn't want to betray Maman's confidence, of course, and I never can discuss the subject with her because of my stepfather's performance. But I do wish she could know how glad I am that she saved me from myself."

She was silent for a little, and I put a question to her.

"Would you like to have me tell her that, Olina?" I asked.

Her eyes were suddenly bright, as they looked eagerly into mine.

"Oh, blessed Auntie Madge!" she exclaimed. "You can do that, and you can make her understand why I don't ever want to talk to her about it."

Then her face clouded.

"But can you manage it without my appearing to be critical of my stepfather?" she asked. "I musn't do that."

"No, of course not," I assured her. "And I'm sure I can manage the situation."

"If you can't, nobody can," she said extravagantly, and then went on to a variation of her former question.

"But, if I musn't ask Mary to forgive me, how will I act when I next see her?" she asked. "I feel as if I never could look either her or Noel in the face again."

Voters Have To Pick Right Line These Days

By The Associated Press

CADIZ, O., May 8—Gordon Rogers, Cadiz township farmer, thought the political prognosticators were a little off on their prediction of a light vote in Tuesday's primary election—for a while at least.

Arriving at his polling place, he found a long queue and took his place in line. Neating the end of the lineup, he remarked:

"In all my 75 years, this is the first time I had to line up to vote."

His neighbor in line replied:

"You're in the wrong pew, buddie. These are miners signing up for unemployment compensation. You vote three doors up the street."
